W. D. HOWELLS has accepted the editorship of the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

It is said that Earl Russell proposes to visit America and lecture on electricity. He would do better to stay at home and meditate on lurid causes for divorce.

Reversing orange growers and dealers have about concluded a general combination by which they agree to regulate shipments on a systematic plan and protect the prices of fruit in Eastern markets.

Enlist free-traders are likely to hear one of their "strong-siding champions" in this country when Congressman Andrew introduces his bill to repeal the duty on tin plate. There isn't much danger, however, that it will become a law.

The grip epidemic which has recently proven such a scourge in Europe seems to be making its second trip around the world. Nearly every city in the Union as far west as Omaha reports the scourge in an epidemic form. California need not expect to escape and we may as well prepare for a tussle with it within a fortnight.

A SAN FRANCISCO genius has invented an orange peeler, by which he hopes to make a fortune. It is described as a piece of wire, nickel-plated, very much in the shape of a button-hole, but with a tiny blade let into the inner bend of the hook. When the point of the hook is drawn into the fruit it slides between the pulp and the peel without danger of entering either, while the blade divides the peel easily and rapidly, after which it may be removed without trouble. When it comes to that what's the matter with a knife?

The fiendish cruelty practiced by some people upon helpless animals is almost beyond comprehension, unless we allow a streak of total depravity in the nature of man. Two Italian fishermen were arrested in San Francisco last week for such conduct. They had been catching sea-gulls by means of hooks baited with pieces of meat, and when they had secured enough to furnish the desired sport they would tie the legs of a bird together, tie his bill so that he could not open it and throw him out upon the bay to float out with the tide and starve to death.

Mr. Boswell, the Canadian Minister of Customs, has declared himself on the subject of Chinese making their way across the border as allied to in the President's message. As regards returning Chinamen to the country from where they came, he states that where they had established a domicile in the Dominion by paying their per capita tax they should be returned to Canada, but where they had landed at Vancouver in transit to the United States, and had smuggled themselves across the border without paying the Canadian per capita tax, they should be returned to China as the place from whence they came. That seems to resolve itself into a question of Canada obtaining the per capita tax first, last and all the time.

The census of Alaska, which has just been bulletined, shows the "summer" population of that country to be as follows:
Whites..... 4,303
Mixed (Russian and native)..... 1,819
Chinamen..... 23,274
Mongolians..... 2,287
All others..... 112
Total..... 31,793
This includes the crews of all vessels found anchored in Alaskan ports and some thousands of whites and Mongolians temporarily employed in fish-packing establishments. The Indians are divided as follows:
Eskimo..... 12,184
Chinook..... 4,239
Athabaskan..... 3,441
Aleut..... 908
Tsimshian..... 2,251
Haida..... 391
Total..... 23,274

The horrible story of the Ivetts, murder, near Shelling, Merced county, in November, 1890, has been told again, and will be printed in detail, with a mass of new facts, in tomorrow's Times, when the injunction of secrecy will have been removed. August Olsen, it will be recollected, was put on trial charged with the murder, but the public prosecutor's efforts to convict failed, probably through perjured testimony. The Blanchard perjury case grew out of the murder trial. A new and startling phase has been given to the latter case by the long, patient and thorough investigation of Detective A. B. Lawson, formerly of this city, who was retained by British Vice-Consul Mortimer to run down the murderer of old man Ivetts. Mr. Mortimer took action in the case at the instance of an aged sister of the murdered man living in England, who directed the application of all her fortune, together with her share in the murdered man's estate, to the object of uncovering the crime and punishing the criminals. In the later developments, he murdered man's young wife, who is, figure suspiciously. The story is one of absorbing criminal interest and fresh details are to be printed in The Times tomorrow.

The Decennial "Times."

It is a solid and a superb issue of 24 large pages.

Citizens! spread the Anniversary Number abroad by hundreds and thousands of copies! It is the most interesting publication and the most effective missionary agent that can be sent out, by reason, particularly, of the ten years' showing and contrast presented in its columns. It is a distinctively Los Angeles publication, and makes the city and county luminous.

Orders sent to the counting-room—by mail, messenger or Times carriers—will be carefully filled.

Prices in lots: 5 copies, 25 cents; 10 copies, 50 cents; 20 copies, $1.00.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

The Expediency of "Standing from Under" Sometimes.

The Evening Express, which likes to tell about itself, prints an editorial story, or autobiography, describing a couple of "hunters" who, with a strip of black oilcloth over their countenances, "with two holes in it to look through," were in the habit of laying behind a manzanita bush "somewhere near the top of the grade" . . . "on the old stage road between Carson City and Aurora," waiting to capture their game from the "up stage." Their little game, according to the Express editorial historian, was a success about nine times out of ten. "But they tried it once too often," adds the autobiographer, by way of explanation. "One of them had his head blown off by Express Messenger Mike Tobey, and the other is now in the Nevada State prison."

This is a very interesting personal narrative, but the Express signally failed to explain to its readers why one of the hunters (or editors) had his head blown off by the express messenger, and which one got away, and took shelter in the Nevada State prison. If he was the writer of the article who had his head blown to pieces among the manzanita chapparel of the Sierra Nevada, the explanation is to be found in the article itself. But he should have had better sense while he was exploiting near the top of that grade. He should have taken the advice of The Times to "stand from under." Then, perhaps, he would now have the top of his head in the place where the top of his head ought to grow.

"By the way," as another estimable colleague would say, what a preposterous, not to say grotesque, spectacle an able editor must present sitting on a nail-peg, with no head "onto" him, grinding out his autobiography, likewise able editorials in defense of hoodlums and gangsters! He should "stand from under," get down from his nail-peg, and go to an undertaker's for board and lodging.

Whichever one of the two it is—the one with his head off or the one that got away from that bad place, at the top of the grade—who is pursuing the reader with Express "editorials" in defense of big and little hoodlums, the public will wish it was the other.

The Express squealed like a raptured porcine when The Times fired an unexpected shot into its sleeping camp and hit a boss hoodlum in a vital part. At first it howled "threats," made a great fuss about our "attack," and in effect admitted that one of its ilk was meant, thus confessing to the existence of a "boss" among us. It was called upon to name names, if it had a grievance, but failed; and now it declares it has no knowledge of any local "boss" in the Republican party; but "if there is a boss at all," the evening organ bristles up and proclaims that it will not obey his orders!

The evening organ, whose business it is to obey orders, has grown suddenly reckless. It should return to its political rôle of obedience, and "stand from under," or the big boss will be offended. "Now, if there is a local 'boss,' why protect him? and if there is no 'boss,' why howl because a myth was attacked by The Times?"

We perceive that a loud, noisy silence goes up from the evening instrument on the sad subject of a local electric railway company. What it don't say on this troublesome topic is very eloquent indeed. Can it be that on a recent tour of inquiry and investigation in electric quarters it received a shock? Is it possible that instead of being "squared" on that trip, it was knocked galley west and into the middle of next week? An electric railway concern that does not want to be "defended" is something akin to a buzz-saw. It is dangerous to the foolhardy "organ"-ized adventurers who approach it! Yes!

It is confessed on all hands that The Times has done something in the past towards aiding Los Angeles Republicans in the righteous and necessary work of "downing" bosses who sought to ride the party to its death. We have helped a good deal, "at the proper time," to force these fellows to go about and "roast low." For this indispensable service we have received many, many sincere thanks from Republicans good and true who belong to the great anti-boss host. And yet we have invariably encountered the opposition and never had the support of the Evening Couthouse in our work and the people's work. It has only been a few weeks since the evening organ of the tumble-bug species contained an editorial compliment to one of the chiefest, most odious and most dangerous of the local bosses, who in the past sought in vain to fasten himself upon the Republican party of Los Angeles and of Southern California. The compliment paid him by the evening organ was of course coupled with a venomous allusion to The Times. We had attacked the boss, and, with the cooperation of the honest and courageous Republicans who know the value of political independence and party integrity, had overthrown him. This was our unpardonable offense in the eyes of the sycophantic and hypocritical evening organ. We warned the fakir to "stand from under" against the coming of the day of wrath. He failed to heed the warning while there was yet time—and where is he now?

There are still battles to be fought for the integrity of the Republican party and the felling of fakirs, bosses and corruptionists. So far as we are concerned, these battles will be fought regardless of the howls of organs and the black looks of embryotic bosses. We warn those of kind to "stand from under"—if they are "wise."

China On Her Dignity.

The Chinese Empire has concluded that it will take no official part in the coming World's Fair. The reason assigned is "that the United States has discriminated against the citizens of that empire, and that the Chinese could not come to the Exposition without being put in a humiliating attitude, needing a special passport to be granted by special act of Congress."

That the United States has discriminated against the immigration of Chinese cannot be denied. But, when all is told, it is doubtful whether this country has done half so much in that respect as China has against the settlement of Americans in China. It is only within a few years that restrictions have been placed on the influx of Chinese, and ever since they began to come all admitted have been given the right to live anywhere in the United States. There are now in the State of California about 60,000 of that nationality, and in the entire United States probably 90,000.

On the other hand, we find that Americans are permitted to reside in only the treaty ports of China—twenty-one in number. In 1887 Americans were resident in the following Chinese cities, or treaty ports: Amoy, 41; Canton, 75; Chufu, 87; Chinkiang, 77; Foochow, 51; Hankow, 49; Newchweng, 12; Ningpo, 186; Shanghai, 400; Tientsin, 185. This makes a total of 1163 Americans residing in China in 1887. The number has not been greatly augmented since.

So it appears that, distasteful as our exclusive laws have been to the Celestial Empire, we now give domicile to fully seventy or eighty times as many Chinese as China gives to Americans, and they have the whole range of our country besides.

As to the "humiliation" of a special act of Congress to admit Chinese to the country to attend the World's Fair, that is all stuff and nonsense. It would be a special mark of courtesy, and should be so considered.

However, we are not disposed to regret China's ultimatum, and we hope that no bitter tears will be shed in this country over the matter. As Californians, whose State has suffered most from the Mongolian invasion, we should rather rejoice over this outcome. Instead of a partial waiver of the exclusion policy by a special act there will be a further incentive to make it more rigid. We are much mistaken if this demonstration of unfriendliness does not make sure the adoption of a bill now pending in Congress to exclude Chinese immigration entirely. The next step will be to send away those now domiciled in this country.

The diplomatic relations between the United States and China are already strained by reason of the refusal to admit our Minister; and the refusal in turn of our Government to name any other representative. This matter was canvassed in the President's message, and it was shown that the objection to Minister Blair, because he had participated in legislation unfriendly to the Chinese, is one which applies equally to every representative of the United States since that legislation has become a part of our laws and now defines the policy of the administration.

So far as this country goes we can probably stand a rupture of the entente cordiale as well as China can, and it will help to extricate us from an unpleasant social and political dilemma. As to the World's Fair, it will go on just the same.

Weather Prophecy and Jackasses.

In hurling denunciations at a weather prophet the Oakland Tribune quotes Horace Greeley, who used to say that it was a hard enough matter to tell what had happened and get it straight, but nobody but an expelled jackass would attempt to tell what is going to happen. Yes, and Horace Greeley made an explosive jacket of himself a good many times when he got into a choleric mood. For example, he included in this sweeping denunciation the astronomers who are able to foretell the movements of the heavenly bodies—to predict eclipses, conjunctions, occultations and even the reappearance of comets—hundreds and thousands of years ahead. Horace Greeley in an old-foggy moment anatomized all the almanac-makers who, by a careful study of natural laws, give us regularly a year or more in advance a calculation of the moon's phases, the tides and many other natural phenomena. In his list of expulsive jackasses would be included all the members of the Weather Bureau, who, from their observance of the barometer, thermometer and wind currents, and an application of the principles of meteorology, forecast the weather for every part of the United States from day to day.

Does anybody suppose that science is going to stop where it is today? If it has delved deep enough to foretell all of these things, and many of them with the nicest mathematical accuracy, may we not hope that, by a further generalization of observed facts and a further definition of natural laws, it may some day foretell other things? Some meteorologists hold that the earth's atmospheric envelope is subject to tides just as the oceans are, and from the same causes. If the moon attracts or repels the water on our globe to such an extent as to set it in motion why should it not attract or repel the atmosphere, which is many times more tenuous and impressible? If the tides of an ocean may be reduced to an accurate system and thus foretold why not tides in the atmosphere and other atmospheric phenomena?

The observations of cyclonic movements, or storm-waves of tornadoes, hurricanes and weather disturbances of all kinds during the past ten years have opened a veritable book of revelations. They have shown us that every storm has certain characteristics which can be stated beforehand with as much accuracy as after the event. When a tornado appears anywhere in the United States, for example, it is certain that its general direction will be from west to east; that the swirling column will move from right to left, or opposite to the hands of a watch; that it will be located in a barometric trough from three to five hundred miles southeast of the center of the general cyclonic disturbance.

If then it is established that storms have well-defined and invariable characteristics may not further investigation show that they have just as fixed and unalterable causes? We have only a little further to go, apparently, to disclose these causes, and then meteorology may become an established and as accurate science as astronomy is today. It requires no greater stretch of the probabilities to concede the one than the other.

Standing at the threshold of such possibilities and feeling that everything in the universe works on the most perfect system—that nothing is done by chance—we feel disposed to encourage those patient, hard-working scientists who are endeavoring to interpret for us the book of nature's laws. If they make an occasional mistake what wonder? Instead of heaping contumely and ridicule upon them, we should rather show them our sympathy and encouragement. They have undertaken the solution of a most difficult problem, not for their individual gain, but for the cause of knowledge and for the benefit of the world at large. We do not believe everything that is put forth in the way of weather prophecy and it would be folly to ask other people to believe it, but we do believe that a scientific basis for forecasting the weather will yet be established. Those who are working in a systematic way to secure this great desideratum deserve encouragement, and some day those who succeed will receive the world's plaudits. They will be remembered and honored long after those who denounce them as jackasses are forgotten.

According to a receipt telegram from Flagstaff, Ariz., G. K. Gilbert and Marcus Baker, the former chief geologist of the United States Survey, with a force of men, have returned from Cañon Diablo, where they were sent by the Government to take observations and make a map of the region, where so much meteoric iron has recently been found. They spent sixteen days investigating the mammoth hole in the ground supposed to have been made by a meteor. The hole is 625 feet deep and two and one-eighth miles in circumference. The theory is that from the appearance of the walls and the fact that they have found many pieces of meteoric iron around the hole the meteor penetrated the earth to a depth of 700 or 800 feet before it exploded, and this accounts for the strange phenomena. Three pieces of the meteor, weighing 300, 600 and 850 pounds, respectively, were found on the mesa within two miles of the crater, and are now in the Smithsonian Institution. Besides these they found many pieces weighing from two ounces upward.

The law passed by the last Legislature requiring the judgment of death to be executed by the warden of one of the State prisons not less than sixty nor more than ninety days from the date of the judgment, and requiring the sheriff to deliver the defendant to the warden within ten days from the date of judgment, has been put to the test before the Supreme Court and found wanting. Eighteen prisoners in various county jails in the State under charges of murder are affected by the decision. If they are to be hanged at all the sheriffs must do it.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE THEATERS.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.—The hall at our theaters for the week will be broken on Friday evening by the advent of Goodyear, Elitch & Schilling's ducky make-believe dummies at the Los Angeles Theater. The company comprises a large number of the most famous burnt cork artists of the country, and, judging by advance notices, a fine show is assured.

The first part is set amid luxurious hangings and draperies, and the performers appear gorgeously arrayed in plushes and silks, after the fashion of bygone times. The company's orchestra is said to be much above the average, and the moss-covered joke, we are assured, will be conspicuous by its absence.

In addition to the usual strictly minstrel features, a number of interesting and original specialties go to make up an entertainment that should easily fill the cozy little Spring-street theater during this brief engagement.

Altered Phase of the Senatorial Fight.

A Popular Recoil in Favor of John Sherman.
Present Attitude of the Republican State Press.

A "Cyclone" of Sherman Sentiment Sweeping Over the Land—But the Complexion of the Legislature is Doubtful.

COLUMBUS (O.), Dec. 9.—[Special Correspondence of The Times.] During the few days just passed a marked change has taken place in the character of the Senatorial fight. With here and there an exception, the press of the State has grown conservative. The fierce bitterness with which Sherman was assailed by the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette and sympathizing members of the Republican press throughout the State has changed to moderate protestation against the Senator's reelection. The fact is, Mr. Foraker's friends were slow in discovering that a very large majority of the rural press was in a state of opposition to his reelection, and was aware of it, they were of the opinion that a determined, pitiless rush at the opening of the game would demoralize the Senator's press support, and, thus weakened, it would not be a difficult matter to entirely detach the larger portion of it. It is not material what cause was the reason for the onslaught on the Senator; the fact is most apparent that it failed. In fact, it more than failed—it has proven disastrous. Instead of timidity being shown the "rural roosters," as the Commercial Gazette termed them, rose up like little giants, and with an amount of vigor and ability crossed lances with those they are pleased to term "the enemies of the Republican party." The Journal of Bucyrus and the Cyclone of Washington Court House are the leaders of the Republican country press, and are edited with excellent ability. The editor of the Cyclone sought communications from his fellow-editors and publishes their views in the last issue. The Foraker cause, which has been bolstered up by the assertion that the county press, which is almost an infallible index of popular sentiment, was largely in favor of Foraker, suffered a collapse. It was evident that at least three-fourths were determined Sherman men, and a portion of that which was not was active for Gov. Foraker. Since the publication of the Cyclone's blast there has been less boasting, and a disposition is manifested to conduct the campaign in a calmer mood.

We have referred to the mistake made in attacking Brice's seat. The bad effects of that move are now clearly seen, and the Foraker men are trying to shift the paternity of the movement, declaring that it had its origin with Sherman's friends, and that the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette only gave it a hearty second. Judge George K. Nash's refusal to accept the duty of investigating the question of Mr. Brice's eligibility has given the move a death blow, and it is now conceded that the Ohio State Journal that the State Committee will not be again convened to consider the question. This result is a signal triumph for Mr. Sherman, and while he may not be in love with the Democratic Senate, and while he may not be in love with his entire duty in the matter, it evinces his determination not to be driven one step in the matter by the fierce opposition to him made by the friends of ex-Gov. Foraker. Daily Republican members-elect reach this city, ostensibly for the purpose of securing winter accommodations, but no doubt actuated by a desire to get a clear conception of the Senatorial situation. The new Legislature, like the last one, will not be conspicuous for able men. Indeed, not a single member of the new party for some years has been creditedly represented in the General Assembly. True, each has had some few men of good, strong character, but there has been a barrenness of large ability and there is not a member in the new body who has attracted sufficient attention to make him noted beyond his district or county. The organization, particularly that of the House, will enter largely into the Senatorial fight. It is known that Mr. Sherman has a majority of the Senators and, therefore, the president pro tem of that body will be selected without difficulty. It is otherwise in the House, each wing claiming a majority. Its complexion as regards the Senate is doubtful. As far as can be determined it looks Shermanish, but there are eight or ten members who have not openly avowed a preference. Besides there are not less than eight who are claimed by both factions. Mr. Flickinger, member from Lucas county, is in a very uncomfortable position. The sentiment of his county, which includes Toledo, is decidedly for Foraker. The county convention which nominated him was in control of Foraker's friends. It was rumored while the convention was in session that Flickinger was a Sherman man. This rumor reaching his ear, unsolicited, he sought ex-Congressman Romeis, a strong Foraker partisan, and assured that gentleman that he was for most famous burnt cork artists of the country, and begged his aide to secure his fidelity in the Senatorial matter to the support of the ex-Governor. On this representation Romeis placed Flickinger's nomination and secured his selection by the convention. Flickinger is now claimed by the Sherman men. The same condition exists in Cleveland, but the interests are adverse. Four of its delegation are claimed for Foraker. The sentiment in that county is largely in favor of the return of Senator Sherman. The nominating convention was in the control of Sherman influence, and it is asserted by the friends of Mr. Sherman that had the sentiment of that county been known to the convention it could have been nominated. It is further said that had their duplicity been discovered during the canvass they would have been defeated at the polls. This is probably true. There are four candidates for Speaker of the House, but only two will be "in it." McGrew of Clarke (Foraker) and Laylin of Huron (Sherman) are recognized as the objective men. McGrew is very popular and will be able to attract a few men to his fortunes who are not friends of Foraker. The same is claimed for Mr. Laylin, but it is not probable. When you find a Foraker man he is "one all over, and will not be controlled or even affected by any considerations of personal friendship. All roads would lead to Foraker, else he will not walk on them. In our opinion Laylin will not poll one vote other than those which will be cast in caucus for John Sherman for United States Senator. While the chief clerkships of the two houses will be affected by the Senatorial contest, they will not be controlled by it. John Malloy, Columbus correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, will be the clerk of the House. He will be indebted for this to his personal popularity. The clerk of the Senate will be a friend of John Sherman. For the minor offices there will be a scramble. C. N. B.

THE SUPERVISORS.

New Irrigation District Agitated—Court-house Furnishings—Bids Opened.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors held yesterday the matter of the petition for a new irrigation district, to be known as the Glendora district, came up for hearing, and after testimony had been offered pro and con was by the Board taken under advisement.

A deed from Charles Peterson et al. for the southerly 15 feet of lot 6 in block 3 of the Urmost tract for the opening of Adams street was accepted and placed on record.

Upon motion of Supervisor Davis it was ordered that all of Main street between the boundary line of the city limits be known as such, and all from the point of its divergence from Main running south be designated as New Main street.

Bids were received from the following persons for furnishing the rooms of the upper story of the Courthouse, including Judge Wade's courtroom and School Superintendent's office: Mackay & Skinner, H. Bohrmann, W. R. Phelps, F. E. Greer and Hughes Bros. That of Henry Bohrmann, $3247, being the lowest and best, was duly accepted.

A petition was presented by G. H. Peck and others asking that the official bed of the channel of the San Gabriel River through Azusa, Duarte, El Monte and Rowland road discontinue be designated, and the same was referred to the District Attorney for his opinion as to the powers of the board in the premises.

For Morality's Relief.

Another meeting of the gentlemen having in charge ways and means for the relief of Assistant Fire Chief Morarty was held last evening at the office of Chief Moore in the City Hall.

The committee having charge of the subscription lists reported satisfactory progress.

Final arrangements were completed for a benefit athletic performance at the Pavilion Saturday night. The principal attraction will be a tug-of-war, in which the American, Irish, German and Spanish teams will take part. There will also be one or two sparring bouts between Billy Manning and others.

It is believed that at least $1000 can be raised by this means. Mayor Hazard will contribute the hall, all the electric lights will be free, and there will really be no expense whatever. The sale of tickets will commence at once.

A PEERLESS PREMIUM.

Rand, McNally & Co.'s New Encyclopedia.

The new Encyclopedia Britannica, in all one volume of 720 pages, offered as a premium with The Times, daily, or with the SATURDAY TIMES and WEEKLY MIRROR, is a most valuable acquisition for any library. Never before has there been offered to the public a book of reference approaching this in completeness, compactness or cheapness. It contains 720 pages of encyclopedic information concerning all branches of knowledge, comprising in a condensed form, stripped of unnecessary verbiage, the very cream of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and the latest addition of Chambers's Encyclopedia, with the addition of a great many American subjects found in neither of the larger encyclopedias.

Besides being a comprehensive gazetteer of universal knowledge, it is also a complete atlas of the world. It has eighty full-page colored maps and nearly 2000 engravings. It treats of 18,000 subjects.

The publishers' retail prices for the Encyclopedia are $8 and $10 respectively, but the book will be sent by us, together with one year's subscription to the SATURDAY TIMES and WEEKLY MIRROR, for the unprecedentedly low price of $3.50; or it will be furnished with the DAILY TIMES, three months, delivered by carrier in any part of the city, for $5.00. (This figure has been advanced from $4.50 to cover an unexpected high freight rate on the books from Chicago.)

The Premium Dictionary is furnished with the DAILY TIMES three months for $3.50; one year for $10.20; or with the SATURDAY TIMES and WEEKLY MIRROR one year for $2.70.

Sample copy to be seen at the counting room.

YOUNG FIELD IN JAIL.

Released on Bail only to be Rearrested in a Civil Suit.

New York, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Edward Field, member of the firm of Field, Lindley & Co., was indicted by the grand jury today on charges of misappropriating fifty shares of Union Pacific and Denver, Rio Grande and Gulf stock.

Field was arraigned in Part 1 of the Court of General Sessions before Judge Cowing. His counsel entered a plea of not guilty and he was admitted to bail in $25,000. J. Pierpont Morgan and John T. Terry qualified as bondsmen. While at the bar Field kept his eyes cast down and big tears trickled down his cheeks. As soon as he left the court he was arrested on an order in a civil suit brought by P. H. Deltz, who charges Field with hypothecating securities deposited with the latter's firm for a loan of $125,000. Field was taken to Ludlow street jail.

Cyrus W. Field, improving rapidly. A marked change for the better was experienced yesterday and continues today.

THEIR NOSES TIED UP.

A Mining Nuisance Causing Excitement at Butte, Mont.

MONTANA, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] A special to the Tribune from Butte, Mont., says: "The people are wrought up to a high state of indignation over the action of the Boston and Montana Company in roasting ores in heaps contrary to the injunction recently secured. The superintendent of the works after giving his orders left town. The people are compelled to wear cloths over their faces while on the streets to stifle the fumes. A public meeting has been called for tomorrow. A mob will go out and put a stop to the nuisance and the police and sheriff will not interfere."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The grand jury held a brief session this afternoon. A special committee, which consists of Foreman Henley and Jurymen Lynch, Cubery, Holbrook and Kennedy, was appointed and authorized to prepare a concluding report of the grand jury upon the work which it was engaged upon when the decision of the Supreme Court put an end to its investigation.

It will be presented in Judge Wallace's court as soon as completed, and upon the day upon which the jury will ask to be finally discharged. When the report has been completed Mr. Henley will call a meeting of the jury, who, they approve of it, will be given an opportunity to sign it. It will probably be a week before it is ready. Mr. Henley stated that the report would be a sort of general review of the work done with suggestions and recommendations.

NEW RACING RULES.

Important Changes by the Coast Blood Horse Association.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting tonight a committee appointed by the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association took action in reference to the revision of several important rules. Final action cannot be taken for sixty days. It was learned, however, that the committee decided in future not to accept any entries from owners or agents of owners who are behind in MANY MEN GO OUT.

Telegraph Operators Strike on Two Railroads.

General Walkout on the Southern Pacific on This Coast.

The Company Says It Can Keep on Without the Strikers.

Efforts to Effect a Compromise of the Trouble on the Atlantic and Pacific Coast.

By Telegram to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The strike of telegraph operators on the Pacific coast began at 10 o'clock this morning, but it is not yet known how many men are actually out. There are from 600 to 800 operators on the Southern Pacific system, but it is not known what proportion of that number are members of the Telegraphers' Brotherhood. The Southern Pacific claims that but a small percentage of the number in the system are members and that they will have operators enough to handle their business.

On the Atlantic and Pacific was definitely known that a large number of men are out and that the situation there is more serious. The strike is based on the claim of the operators that the Southern Pacific should not compel them to sign an affidavit that they are not nor will not become members of the order.

Up to noon today strikers are reported out at San Miguel, San Ardo and Turlock, Cal., and at four points in Nevada and in Utah on the Central Pacific.

ASHLAND (Or.), Dec. 15.—Five members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers on the Ashland and Red Bluff division of the Southern Pacific have gone out in the telegraphers' strike, including the agent at Skikyou station, where the office has been closed today; also the operators are out at Ager, Sisson, Redding and Red Bluff. The Pacific division extends as far as Ashland and two of the telegraphers on the Ashland Southern Pacific depot are not affected by the strike.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 15.—The strike of Southern Pacific telegraphers does not effect this division, as none of the operators are members of the order.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Col. Clowry, general superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company received advice today that the strike of telegraphers on the Southern Pacific Railroad has proved a failure, that the strikers' places are filled, and business is proceeding as usual. His understanding is that there is little likelihood of the strike becoming serious.

ON THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC.

Efforts to Reach a Compromise Without Success.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] President Mervel of the Santa Fe Railroad Company says that negotiations are now in progress between the superintendent of the Atlantic and Pacific and the striking operators with a view to the settlement of the existing differences, but that no understanding is yet reached.

DENVER, Dec. 15.—A dispatch from Albuquerque says that the strike of dispatchers and operators on the Atlantic and Pacific road has not changed for the better. Representatives of men are in conference tonight with officials and the result will not be given out until tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15.—Acting Grand Chief Ramsey has sent a telegram to the strike committee of the Atlantic and Pacific strikers, instructing them to declare the strike off, providing the officials of the road adhere to their first declaration allowing operators to remain members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers.

In an interview with an Associated Press representative, Ramsey said that at today's meeting the Advisory Council of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and Conductors concurred in the action he had decided to take and it was the sense of the assembled railroad men to waive the question of wages. "I have ordered the men to waive the question of wages," he said, "until I reach Albuquerque, where I go tonight, but we cannot and will not waive our right to join and be members of the order of Telegraphers."

When questioned as to the trouble on the Southern Pacific, Ramsey said the order would not yield one iota of their rights and that the men would stay out until the battle was won, if it took three years to do it.

A. D. Thurston, grand chief of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, is in the city to attend a meeting of the advisory council of railroad men. Speaking in reference to the troubles on the Southern Pacific and Atlantic and Pacific Railroads, he said that besides the telegraphers' organization by officials of the road, the Atlantic and Pacific telegraphers demand an increase of salary. "If we cannot settle our troubles with the Southern Pacific and Atlantic and Pacific," said a member of the Executive Committee of the order, "we will involve every railroad in the United States."

INGENIOUS CHINESE.

How they Explain the Late Massacre and Outrages.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Times this morning publishes a dispatch from Singapore which contains Chinese advice to date of December 1. They include the following description of the origin of the Choyong troubles: "A party of cavalry destroyed the hill robbers village in the absence of the chief and killed all members of the household except a Concubine, who was delivered to the magistrate afterward while the cavaliers were being inspected outside of town the robbers in revenge captured Choyong, killed the magistrate, liberated the woman and held the town. The affair was purely local."

The same advice also contain the following: "The so-called massacres of Christians were merely factional fights with members of a local Confucian sect who, after rioting and extorting money, fed and joined some brigands."

The Baseball Situation.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 15.—There is yet nothing tangible in the situation regarding the two great baseball organizations. As a result of the meeting of the Association, a committee consisting of Von der Ahe of St. Louis, Von Derhorst of Baltimore and Elliot, of the Athletics, has been appointed to confer with a League committee on the proposed consolidation.

TWO PECULIAR BIRDS.

Singular Specimens of the Feathered Tribe in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.), Dec. 8.—[Correspondence.] This city boasts of having within its precincts two of the most peculiar birds ever seen in this country. Some days ago William Watson was out hunting and saw what he at first thought was an escaped parrot and set about capturing it. The bird, however, was not to be caught and was as wary as a hawk. It led Watson quite a chase and at last he was compelled to shoot at it for fear it would get away. He was convinced from its actions that it was not a tame bird and shot a ball through its wing, completely disabling it. He then saw that he had a bird which had the plumage of a parrot, but the characteristics of an eagle. It was as large as an ordinary bald eagle, but had a long yellow tail. The beak and talons were those of a bird of prey, and it fought desperately with its captor. The feathers are variegated, some being blue, some green and some yellow. Taken altogether it is the most remarkable bird and one which puzzles the local ornithologists. No one here has ever seen or heard of anything like it.

The other curious bird is a small creature with the shape and size of a Mexican road runner. It has this difference, however, in that it has a long bill like a curlew, and growing from the top of its head are two long ears looking like those of a rabbit. These are covered with fine short feathers which look like hair. The bird is undoubtedly a freak of nature, but just how it ever became possessed with rabbit's ears is what is puzzling the people who have seen it. It will be mounted by a local taxidermist and sent to the national museum.

A SILVER CONVENTION.

Great Gathering at El Paso—Speeches and a Bull Fight.

EL PASO (Tex.), Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The Southwest Silver Convention called to order this morning by Chairman Longmear of Bullion. About 500 miners were present and fully 600 were delayed by storm-bound trains. An address of welcome was delivered by Juan Hart, of the El Paso Times, and was responded to by Gov. Prince of New Mexico.

Ex-Senator John H. Reagan made an able appeal for free coinage, handling the financial question of the country in an exhaustive manner.

William Burns, Speaker of the New Mexico House of Representatives, was made temporary chairman.

Later the convention adjourned to witness a bull fight in Juarez. It will reconvene in the morning. Senator Reagan will be made chairman of the Committee on Resolutions.

An Insurance Sensation.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Insurance men talk of but one topic today, an announcement made at a dinner of 100 underwriters at Delmonico's last evening. F. B. Armstrong, president of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of the Fire Association and of the Armstrong Fire Insurance Company, all of this city, stated that the entire business of the three companies, aggregating $300,000,000, had been reinsured in the Lancashire of England, and the reserve, amounting to over $1,000,000, had been paid in cash to the Lancashire. Armstrong retires from the business of fire underwriting. In his speech he characterized the transaction as the greatest in the history of fire insurance.

In Financial Trouble.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Julius Voetter, an extensive cattle dealer and pork packer of East Liberty, is financially embarrassed. He estimates his liabilities at $80,000 and his assets at $150,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—Techner & Frank, manufacturers of Jersey goods, have made an assignment. Judgments aggregating $80,000 have been entered against the firm.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Conover Bros. & Co., piano manufacturers, have become insolvent, and George Cotterill has been appointed receiver.

Wall Street Rumors about Villard.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A story was going the rounds in Wall street today that Henry Villard will be obliged to retire from the presidency of the Edison General Electric Company and also to retire from the Northern Pacific Railroad. As a reason it was asserted that Drexel, Morgan & Co., who heretofore have been numbered among Villard's strong adherents, have become disaffected with certain methods and have signified a desire for a change, which is tantamount to a command. Both Morgan & Co. had refused to pay any attention to the story.

The Latest Alliance Scheme.

TOPEKA (Kan.), Dec. 15.—The Kansas Alliance Cooperative Mortgage Association, capital stock $1,000,000, with Frank McGrath as the central figure, is the latest Alliance enterprise. The charter was filed this morning and business will be commenced January 1. The object is to negotiate directly with Eastern capitalists for the necessary amounts for defraying farm mortgages indebtedness without the assistance of middlemen. The company will obtain securities by forming a fund of the effects, personal and real, of its members.

A Deal in Rubies and Sapphires.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A Helena (Mont.) special says: "It is admitted at the office of the Montana Sapphire and Ruby Company that negotiations for the sale of the property to an English syndicate are finally concluded. The general opinion seems to be that $2,000,000, with certain bond and share concessions to the present owners of the property, is the price paid."

Trainmen's Grievances.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—General Superintendent J. A. Fillmore of the Southern Pacific held a conference yesterday afternoon with the engineers' Grievance Committee. The grievances were taken up one by one and some of them were settled, but it was agreed not to make the conclusions public for the present. Mr. Fillmore said at the close of the conference that it would be continued tomorrow. He thought a compromise would be effected as to the leading issues involved.

Minneapolis Getting Ready.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 15.—A sub-committee of the National Republican Committee arrived in this city this morning from Chicago and at once went into joint session with the Citizens' Executive Committee to map out the work of getting ready for the national convention next June.

Railway Station Burned.

MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—The Central Railway station in this city has been destroyed by fire.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Another Session of the Convention at Birmingham.

A Report on the Pacific Coast Dispute, Which Will Probably Result in a Settlement of the Difficulty.

By Telegram to the Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] In the convention of the American Federation of Labor today a motion was made that the convention grant $3000 to enable the Pittsburgh Typographical Union to take the recent conspiracy cases to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and, if necessary, to the United States Supreme Court. President Gompers opposed action at this time and the whole matter was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The reports of the auditor and Committee on Rules were adopted.

The Committee on Credentials stated that Henry Kralow of Portland, Or., was contested as a delegate.

At the afternoon session a partial report from the Committee on Pacific Coast Contested Delegates was submitted in the shape of an agreement declaring that the Brewers' Union of the Coast will rejoin the National Union by paying dues and assessments for the current month, and also the assessment of $40 under dispute, said $40 to be paid under protest to the president of the Federation and payment to be made by January 1 next; further, that the National Union of the United States agree to accept the Pacific brewers' demands above terms and call a convention within six months from January 1, 1892, a popular vote to decide the month, and said convention to settle all difficulties definitely. It is probable the report will be received with a settlement.

Mrs. Van Eaton of New York made an exhaustive argument in favor of recognition of the Federation of Working Women of the metropolis. Mrs. McDonald Valesh, State lecturer of the Minnesota Alliance and representative of the St. Paul working women, delivered an address advocating the cause of women.

A motion was made by Delegate Harding that a special committee be appointed to consider the organization of working women, the two ladies had just spoken for women. This was adopted. Many resolutions were introduced and referred to committees.

Doing His Duty.

There was a man lying asleep on the sidewalk on Pearl street today, says the New York World, and a roughly dressed fellow who was just able to navigate under his load of "budge" came along and seized an awning-post and looked down upon the sleeper.

"Shay"!

"Shay!" he finally claimed, as he put out his foot to arouse the man. The other muttered and mumbled but did not arouse himself.

"Shay, old fellow, get out of this!" continued the other as he used his foot more vigorously.

"Hey—what—what d'ye want?" demanded the mid-day slumberer, as he sat up and looked around, still sleepy, but entirely sober.

"I want'er give you shum fazzlerly advice, old man. If you want'er nip or two that's all right—all right—but er feller as lets whisky get'er best of him in 'er daytime, is no good on earth. You brace right up or you are a gone-one, and you take my word for it!"

He continued down Pearl street, weaving from side to side, and when half a square away he caught onto another post and looked back and said:

"Scuse me, but when I seee man in your condishun I allus feel like givin' him shum fazzlerly advice. Let'er 'lone. Drink butterfally. Keep sober!"

China Gives Notice That She Will Snub the World's Fair.

Commissioners Wrangling Over Indian Lands—Decision of Interest to Ladies Who Have Indian Blood in Their Veins.

By Telegram to the Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Senator Cullom introduced a bill today for the adoption and use of a uniform standard car coupler and regulating the operation and control of freight trains used in interstate commerce and for the greater safety of railroad employees. It provides that all common carriers whose duties include the coupling of cars and who are members of established organizations of railway employees may, within six months after the passage of this act, vote upon a choice of an automatic car coupler. Such coupler may be of the vertical type, but must be so devised as to couple by impact and dispense with any person going between the cars to couple or uncouple. Every common carrier is to be entitled to one vote for every freight car owned, leased or controlled, and the employees are entitled in the aggregate to one-third as many votes as may be cast by all common carriers. The Interstate Commerce Commission is to have the power to decide on the validity of the votes cast. If not less than 600,000 votes are cast, and the entire vote for any particular coupler is not less than 500,000, the commission shall certify these facts to the President, who shall issue a proclamation declaring the coupler chosen to be the standard safety car coupler for use in interstate commerce. In case no choice is made the President shall appoint a commission of five competent persons to determine the coupler best to be used. All carriers must equip at least 10 per cent. each year of the number of freight cars owned and also equip every engine with a driving wheel brake. The commission shall invite bids from inventors of couplers, stating what they will accept from the United States for their patents, and upon the purchase of the patent by the Government the coupler may be used or manufactured by anybody free. The salary of the commissioners is fixed at $5000 a year.

Senator Sanders today introduced a bill constituting two land districts in Montana, one to be called the Southern, with an office at Dillon, the other the Northern, with an office at Fort Benton. He also introduced a bill appropriating $400,000 for the erection of a public building at Butte; also the same amount for a building at Helena.

Senator Cullom introduced a bill amending the Interstate Commerce Act providing that the schedules, tariffs and agreements between railroads, filed with the commission, shall be prima facie evidence in investigations by the commission and all judicial proceedings; that the production of testimony shall be according to the established rules of evidence obtaining on the chancery sides of the circuit courts, with the exception that the answers of defendants to the answers of complainants shall have no weight as evidence. On appeal to the circuit courts the hearing shall be confined to the record presented from the commission except where a party has a right to trial by jury under the Constitution.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS. FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate—The Vice-President announced the appointment of Mr. Morrill as regent of the Smithsonian Institution to fill a vacancy.

Among the bills introduced and referred were the following: For the purchase of a site for a building for the Supreme Court of the United States; for a bronze statue of Christopher Columbus in Washington; to promote and encourage the display of flags in the United States; to reorganize the infantry of the army and increase its efficiency; to repeal the law for the examination of certain officers of the army and to regulate promotions; to fix the pay and allowance of veterans of the army; to amend the Interstate Commerce Act providing for the adoption and use of uniform standard automatic car couplers and regulating, etc.

A joint resolution was passed to fill vacancies in the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution from a class other than members of Congress. A resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, was offered, instructing that committee to inquire whether the acquisition of those portions of the Mexican states of Sonora, Chihuahua and Coahuila that lie north of the twenty-ninth parallel is practicable, and for the interest of the United States.

The Senate then adjourned until tomorrow.

BUYING INDIAN LANDS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] An interview with J. D. Woodruff of Lander, Wyo., chairman of the Shoshone and Arapahoe Indian Commission, is published. He stated he was on the way to Washington to oppose the ratification of the treaty negotiated by the majority of the commission on the ground that the price paid was more than the land is worth.

C. H. Merrill, who was one of the majority of the commission, said in an interview today that the commission secured more than half of the reservation of these Indians in Wyoming. The amount ceded is estimated at 1,100,000 acres, out of 2,000,000 belonging to the Indians, and the commission paid about 55 cents per acre. The lands are well watered by the Wind River and Big Horn, with their tributaries. Good timber is found in the northern and western portions, and there are indications of minerals. In Wyoming the Wind River country is regarded as one of the best red portions of the State.

"Mr. Woodruff is disappointed," said Merrill, "because the Indians absolutely refused to accept the offer he made of $400,000 for only about 40,000 acres additional near the town of Lander. The majority of the commis-
